BOTANICAL GARDEN

The Botanical Garden features over 70 different species and varieties of heliconias which are flowering throughout the year. The garden also features a large number of botanical relatives of the heliconias. Among those families represented are the gingers, calatheas, costus, cannas, prayer plants and bananas. There are also distinct species cultivated as ornamental plants. Surrounding the cultivated areas of the garden are fruit trees, bamboo groves, ferns, bromeliads, philodendrons, orchids and other plants.

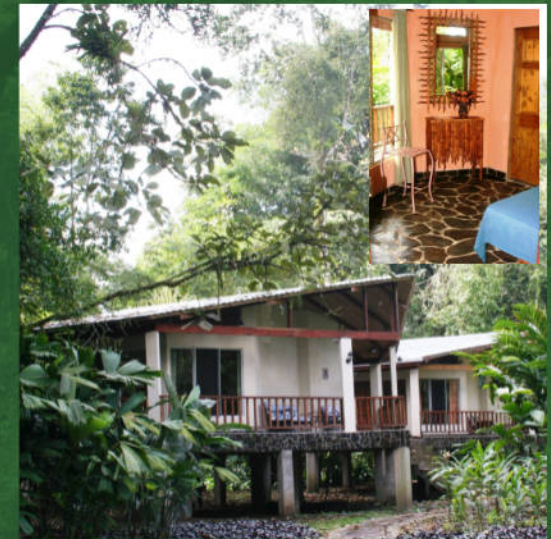

The most unusual palm represented in the garden is the traveller's palm. The traveller's palm is native to the Island of Madagascar and is not commonly seen in Costa Rica. Native trees, which include Sota-Caballo, Laurel, Chilamate, Ceiba, Hule, Cocora, etc. complete the foliage of the tropical setting. The garden is open daily for visitors who want to have a guided tour or look around their selves. Lunch is possible.
